MATRICULATES AND GRADUATES.

The subjoined Table exhibits the number of Graduates at each Commencement since the establishment of the Institution, and (with the exceptions stated below,) the number of Matriculates during each year, since the organization of the Faculty by the appointment of the late Dr. CALDWELL, as President, 11th July, 1804.

The first printed Catalogue of the Students appeared in 1819. It having been issued in the early part of the collegiate year, the number of Matriculates in that year, as for some time afterwards, was greater than is stated in the Table. The later Catalogues have generally contained the names of all who were connected with the Institution each year.

REQUISITES FOR ADMISSION

INTO THE

ACADEMICAL AND UNDER GRADUATE DEPARTMENTS OF THE UNIVERSITY.

Applicants for admission into the Freshman Class are required to sustain an approved examination on the Grammars of the English, Greek, and Latin Languages; Latin Prosody; Andrew's, or Arnold's Exercises; Cæsar's Commentaries; Ovid's Metamorphoses; Virgil's Bucolics, and six Books of his Æneid; Sallust; St. John's Gospel, and The Acts in the Greek Testament; Græca Minora, or Greek Reader; Arithmetic; Algebra, through equations of the first degree; Ancient and Modern Geography.

Applicants for a more advanced standing will be examined on all the studies already pursued by the class they wish to join.

The Instructors in the Greek, Latin, and Mathematical Departments have to complain that the applicants for admission are too often deficient in some part of their preparatory studies. There seems to be a disposition abroad to diminish the very limited amount of reading that is now required in Greek and Latin. There is also a lack of due preparation in the Grammars, Prosody, and Construction of these languages, in Grecian and Roman Antiquities, and especially in Ancient and Modern Geography. In the Mathematics more time and patience should be devoted to problems wherein the various rules of Arithmetic are involved with more or less complexity. Unless these suggestions are regarded, Students will be unable to secure the peculiar advantages of an education at the University. For the Instructors, instead of adopting such exercises as will mature the taste and scholarship of their pupils, will be obliged to return to the drilling of the grammar school without its advantages for ensuring success.

To the teachers who are laboring to promote Classical and Mathematical learning by thorough elementary instruction we are already much indebted. We trust that our obligations to them will be still further increased; for on their efforts we must in a great measure depend for success in elevating the standard of scholarship at the University.

All the Classes are required to attend Divine Worship in the College Chapel on Sunday forenoon, and in the afternoon to recite on the Historical parts of the Old and New Testaments,

DEPARTMENT OF GREEK.

MANUEL FETTER, A. M., Professor.
~~ASHBEL G. BROWN, A. M., Adjunct Professor.~~
RICHARD H. BATTLE, Jr., A. B., Tutor.

The Freshman Class has four recitations a week throughout the year.

The Sophomore Class during the first term has four recitations, and during the second three recitations a week.

The Junior Class has two recitations, and the Senior Class one a week throughout their respective years.

In the first term the Freshman Class reads the Anabasis of Xenophon, and in the second Herodotus.

The Sophomore Class during the first term is occupied with the Iliad of Homer and Select Orations of Demosthenes. The second term is devoted to the History of the Peloponesian War by Thucydides.

The Junior ~~and Senior Classes~~ direct their attention to such Tragedies of Sophocles as the Professor may select.

The Senior class reads the Gorgias of Plato.

DEPARTMENT OF LATIN.

REV. FORDYCE M. HUBBARD, A. M., Professor.
ASABEL G. BROWN, A. M., Adjunct Professor.
JOSEPH B. LUCAS, A. M., Tutor.

The Freshman Class has four recitations a week throughout the year. The Sophomore Class during the first term has three recitations, and during the second four recitations a week. The Junior Class has two recitations, and the Senior Class one a week throughout their respective years.

In the Freshman Class, the first term is spent in reading Virgil's Georgics and Cicero's Orations; the second is devoted to Livy's History. The Sophomore Class reads in the first term the Odes and Satires of Horace, and in the second the Epistles of Horace and Cicero on the Immortality of the soul. The Junior Class is employed during the first term upon the Satires of Juvenal, and during the second upon Cicero's Brutus. The recitations of the Senior Class are devoted to Cicero de Officiis.

DEPARTMENT OF FRENCH.

HENRI HERRISSE, A. M., INSTRUCTOR.

The Sophomore and Junior Classes have each two recitations a week throughout their respective years.

In the first term the Sophomore Class recites in Levizac's, and writes exercises in Manesca's Grammar: the second term is devoted to Gonsalve de Cordue by Florian. The Junior Class during the first term, reads Bossuet's Orations, and in the second Racine's Tragedies and Moliere's Comedies.

DEPARTMENT OF HISTORY.

REV. ALBERT M. SHIPP, A. M., PROFESSOR.

The Freshman and Junior Classes have each two recitations a week throughout their respective years.

The Freshman Class is occupied with the study of Grecian and Roman Antiquities in the first term, and in the second with Ancient History. The Junior Class in the first term completes the study of Ancient History together with the History of the Middle Ages. The second term is devoted exclusively to Modern History—special attention being given to that of England and America.

Throughout the entire course the classes will be guided to the best sources of information on all the more important subjects of Historical inquiry, and stimulated to extend their investigations beyond the text books by making a free use of the collateral aids supplied by the Libraries of the University and of the two Literary Societies. The text books recommended in this Department are Bojesen's Grecian and Roman Antiquities, Weber's Outlines, Tytler's Universal History and Smyth's Lectures on Modern History.

DEPARTMENT OF LOGIC AND RHETORIC.

REV. J. T. WHEAT, D. D., PROFESSOR.

Instruction in this Department is first given to the Sophomore Class. It is required to write Compositions every third week: and as the benefit proposed does not consist in the intrinsic value of the composition, but in the exercise to the writer's mind, care is taken to select such subjects as will afford that exercise. Particular attention is also paid to spelling, punctuation, the precise meaning of words, good taste in the forms of expression, and the various particulars of a correct "proof reading."

The Invention and Arrangement of Arguments, as the means of Conviction; the Philosophy of the Passions as the means of Persuasion; Clearness, Force and Beauty in Style and Delivery; these are the Subjects of a Course of Lectures given to the Junior Class; which is required to deliver, in rotation, original speeches, conformed to the teachings of the lectures.

The Senior Class has two recitations a week in Logic throughout the year. It is required also to speak before the Faculty twice during the year in addition to the usual exercises of Commencement.

The Text-books are Whately's Rhetoric and Wilson's Logic.

DEPARTMENT OF MATHEMATICS.

REV. JAMES PHILLIPS, D. D., PROFESSOR.
CHARLES PHILLIPS, A. M., ASSISTANT PROFESSOR.
SOLOMON POOL, A. B., TUTOR.
RICHARD H. BATTLE, A. B., TUTOR.
WILLIAM R. WETMORE, A. B., TUTOR.

FRESHMAN CLASS.

FIRST TERM. Peirce's Algebra, through Equations of the second degree; Geometry and the Science of Form.

SECOND TERM. Peirce's Algebra, through Geometrical Progression; Peirce's Geometry.

SOPHOMORE CLASS.

FIRST TERM. Analytical Course. Peirce's Plane Trigonometry and its applications; Peirce's Spherical Trigonometry. Or Geometrical Course. Perkins' Geometry; Perkins' Plane Trigonometry.

SECOND TERM. Analytical Course. Analytical Geometry (Smith's Biot); Church's Differential Calculus. Or Geometrical Course. Perkins' Spherical Trigonometry; Davies' Heights and Distances, Surveying, and Navigation.

JUNIOR CLASS.

FIRST TERM. Analytical Course. Church's Integral Calculus; Smith's Statics and Dynamics. Or Geometrical Course. Olmsted's Natural Philosophy.

SECOND TERM. Analytical Course. Bartlett's Acoustics and Optics; Peirce's, or Herschell's Astronomy. Or Geometrical Course. Olmsted's Natural Philosophy; Norton's Astronomy.

The Freshman, Sophomore and Junior Classes have each four recitations a week. These are all under the supervision of the Professor. But the studies of the Freshman Class entirely, and a great part of those of the Sophomore Class are immediately directed by the Tutors, who also render such assistance in the higher Mathematics as the number of any class may render necessary.

At the beginning of the Sophomore year there is offered to the Students in this department an election between an Analytical and a Geometrical course of Mathematics. The difference between these two courses is marked with sufficient minuteness in the details given above. The Analytical course is recommended to those whom success in their previous studies, taste, inclination, and a desire for scholarly or professional eminence qualify for large attainments in Mathematical Science. Those who expect to become pupils in the Engineering Department of the Scientific School are required to pursue this course. To others the Geometrical course will afford abundant opportunities for a minute acquaintance with those branches of Mathematics which, although not so abstract and not so general, still afford very powerful aid in developing the powers of thought and in unfolding the secrets of nature.

Lectures on Natural Philosophy and on Astronomy succeed the instruction by text books, and are common to the students of both courses of Mathematics. They are also open to such Partial Course Students as may choose to attend them. These lectures supplement while they review the other instructions. For at the present day no single work can contain all the useful information connected with these branches of science without becoming too diffuse to serve as a text-book.

DEPARTMENT OF

CHEMISTRY, MINERALOGY, GEOLOGY.

REV. ELISHA MITCHELL, D. D., PROFESSOR.

On these branches, four lectures, illustrated by appropriate experiments, and the exhibition of specimens, are commonly delivered, every week, to the Senior and Junior Classes, two to each; which such persons pursuing a Partial Course as choose to apply themselves to these studies, have an opportunity of attending. The Lecture is succeded, after an interval of an hour, or an hour and a half, by an examination extending through one hour, upon the facts and doctrines, that were its subject; and upon others, the knowledge of which may contribute to a better understanding of the Lecture that is next to follow. With these, the Student is expected to make himself acquainted, by means of notes taken at the time, a volume that is placed in his hands, or some other book of elements. The text-books of Draper, Graham, Miller, and Regnault, are recommended.

The history of Chemistry, its Nomenclature, and General Doctrines, the Imponderables, (under which head the phenomena and laws of Light, Heat, Electricity and Galvanism are treated of, at such length as their relations to the science of Chemistry seem to require,) and the non-metallic elements, occupy the Junior year. In the Senior year, the non-metallic elements, if any part remains unfinished, are completed—with the Chemistry of the Metals, and of Organized bodies.

In Natural History, the sciences of Botany and Zoology receive attention, so far only, as is necessary to a knowledge of their methods, the classification, and the means employed for distinguishing different plants and animals from each other. A much larger portion of time is devoted, during the Junior year, to Mineralogy, and pains taken to render the student familiar at least with the more common and useful minerals. With reference to this object, a very sufficient collection has been made, and is increasing from year to year, of such species as the rocks of North Carolina, especially, afford, but which contains many specimens from the neighboring States, and distant parts of the world. To this the Student has free access, and ample opportunity of learning to distinguish one species from another. The cabinet purchased some years since in Vienna affords additional facilities, where a more accurate knowledge of the science is desired.

Geology is taken up at the beginning of the Senior year. It is taught in lectures, and studied in a small volume prepared for the use of the Students, and in the composition of which constant reference was had to the rock formations of North Carolina.

DEPARTMENT OF
MORAL PHILOSOPHY, METAPHYSICS, POLITICAL ECONOMY, INTERNATIONAL AND CONSTITUTIONAL LAW.

THE PRESIDENT.

Instruction in these branches is given the Senior Class three days (five recitations) of every week in the Collegiate year.

Metaphysics and Political Economy receive attention during the first term. The Sunday Recitations throughout the year are devoted to the Old Testament and Moral Science; and in addition, the recitations on Monday afternoon of the second term are ordinarily assigned to the latter study.

The text books are: The Bible, Wayland's Moral Science, Abercrombie's Inquiries concerning the Intellectual Powers, (Abbott's Edition); Wayland's Intellectual Philosophy; Wayland's Political Economy; Sheppard's Constitutional Text Book; and the first volume of Kent's Commentaries on American Law.

No portion of the text-books (except the Bible, instruction in which is confined to the Pentateuch,) is omitted, but the whole is carefully recited, subsequently reviewed, and each member of the class separately and rigidly examined on the entire system.

Oral Lectures are given whenever, in the opinion of the Instructor, they are calculated to promote the improvement of the class; and, towards the close of the second term, a regular course is delivered on the History of Constitutional Law, presenting an analytical review, in chronological order, of the Magna Charta of King John; the Petition of Right; the Charters of Carolina; the Fundamental Constitutions, (by John Locke); the Habeas Corpus Act; the Bill of Rights; the Declaration of Independence; the Articles of Confederation; the Treaty of Peace with Great Britain; and the Constitution of the United States.

The Scientific Students are candidates either for the degree of Bachelor of Arts, or for that of Bachelor of Science. The former are such members of the Senior Class as are permitted to substitute studies in this School for the Ancient Languages during their first term, or for the Ancient Languages, and International and Constitutional Law during their second term. If these Students spend a fifth year at the University they may obtain the degree of Master of Arts. The degree of Bachelor of Science may be conferred on those who devote their time chiefly to the studies prescribed in the Scientific School. This course will generally require an attendance of two years and a half. But, as is usual, in beginning his labours any such Student will be admitted to the standing for which he is qualified by his acquisitions.

The instructions afforded in the Departments of this School are intended to prepare young men for professional life, as Artizans, Engineers, Farmers, Miners, and Physicians. The Students will have frequent opportunities for the practice of rules of their professions. But their attention will rather be directed to the obtaining of a familiar acquaintance with the theories and principles by which the Science of the day most vigorously advances the Arts of Civilization.

The Scientific Students will be subject to the general oversight and discipline of the Faculty of the University. Their attendance on Recitations, Prayers, Public Worship, &c., is expected to be as punctual, and their responsibility to all the laws of the University to be as complete as is that of the Students in the Academical Departments,

DEPARTMENT OF CIVIL ENGINEERING.

CHARLES PHILLIPS, Professor.

Applicants for admission into this Department will be expected to manifest great familiarity with the various processes in Arithmetic, Algebra, Geometry, and Plane and Spherical Trigonometry, together with its applications in Surveying, Navigation, Heights and Distances. These preliminary acquisitions are indispensable. At present, the studies in this Department are arranged as follows:

FIRST YEAR.

Smith's Analytical Geometry; Church's Differential and Integral Calculus; Davies' Descriptive Geometry; Davies' Shades and Shadows.

SECOND YEAR.

Smith's Mechanics; Mahan's Civil Engineering; Gillespie on Roads and Railroads; Trautwine, Borden, Long, &c., on Geodesy and Earth Works.

THIRD YEAR.

Applications of Science to various constructive Arts; Reviews of previous studies.

Mechanical, Topographical and Architectural drawing, both plain and isometrical, will be taught throughout the whole course. The theories involved in the construction and adjustment of instruments, together with their use in the field, and exercises in the resulting computations, will be attended to in their proper seasons. Besides the studies peculiar to this Department, its pupils will pursue such in Analytical Chemistry, and in the Academical Departments as may be necessary to the ends they have in view.

DEPARTMENT FOR THE APPLICATION OF CHEMISTRY TO AGRICULTURE AND THE ARTS.

BENJAMIN S. HEDRICK, Professor.

Students in this Department will receive instruction in Analytical Chemistry, and its application to the analysis of soils and manures, the assaying of ores and minerals, the analysis of mineral waters, and the testing of drugs and medicines. An Analytical Laboratory has been fitted up in one of the buildings of the University, and will be open for Students every day in the week, during each term, so that those who desire it may occupy all their time in performing the various operations in practical Chemistry.

Particular attention will be given to the Chemistry of Agriculture, by recitations as well as lectures, during each term of the course.

The text-books for reading and reference are: Will's Outlines of Chemical Analysis; Rose's Analytical Chemistry; Regnault's Chemistry; Johnston's Agricultural Chemistry; Stockhardt's Field Lecture's; Plattner's testing with the Blow-pipe, and Bowman's Medical Chemistry.

This Department contains two Classes, of which the first, called the Independent Class, consists of such Students of Law as have no connection with any of the College Classes; and the second, called the College Class, of such Members of College as, with the permission of of the Faculty, may be desirous of joining it.

The plan of studies comprises Blackstone's Commentaries; Cruise's Digest of Real Property; Fearne on Remainders; Iredell on Executors; Stephen on Pleading; Chitty's Pleading; Selwyn's Nisi Prius; Smith on Contracts; Greenleaf on Evidence, and Adams' Doctrine of Equity; together with lectures on the Common Law having special reference to the Legislation and Judicial decisions of North Carolina. A complete course will occupy two years for the Independent Class, at the end of which, the degree of Bachelor of Laws is conferred on such Students as, by their proficiency, may be entitled to it.

The Independent Class is called on for recitations three times a week. The recitations of the College Class occur only once a week, and are so arranged as not to interfere with the ordinary duties of College.

A Moot Court will be held occasionally by one of the Professors, for the discussion, by the Students, of such legal questions as he may propose. The Student will also be required, from time to time, to draw pleadings, and other legal instruments, and be instructed in the practice of the Courts.

The Professors of Law receive no salary from the Trustees of the University; but are entitled to demand from each member of the Independent Class fifty dollars per session for the first two sessions of the course, and twenty-five dollars per session afterwards; and from each member of the College Class twenty-five dollars per session. The sessions and vacations of this department are the same as those of the College, but the Professors will give instruction during the vacations to such members of either class as desire it, without an extra charge.

The Professors of Law, and the members of the Independent Class, are not subject to any of the ordinary College regulations.

Total, from	$186	to $227

Board of a quality not inferior to what is furnished at the tables of the most respectable boarding houses in the neighboring villages, may be had at $9 to $12 per lunar month. In addition to the above expenses, there are those incurred for books, pocket money, and certain others incident to a connection with the Literary Societies, the amount of which is fixed by the private regulations of those bodies. Also where the Student occupies a room in the village, there is an additional expense for room rent and the hire of a servant. The rooms in the College Buildings are never full.

The whole series of books, for the four years, may be purchased for from $50 to $55. It is desirable that every Student shall retain his text-books and take them with him when he leaves College; but as they are, not infrequently, parted with to the succeeding classes, at a reduced price, this item of expense is thereby rendered less burdensome to many.

Every Student is required, on his arrival at the commencement of each session, to deliver to the Bursar, (Prof. Mitchell,) the moneys and drafts for money which he has brought with him.

It is the duty of the Bursar to attend to the settlement of the demands for board, &c.; to pay into the hands of the Student such sums as are required for other necessary expenses; and to render a statement of the same to the parent or guardian at the close of the session.

From the foregoing statement, it will be seen what amount of money a young man is likely to require. With the safeguards, therefore, that have been provided, there is every reasonable security, if the regulations of the Trustees are complied with, that there will be no disappointment in regard to the expenses of an education at the University.

The Faculty entertain the opinion, that, exclusive of the supplies of clothing ordinarily obtained from home, more than three hundred dollars per annum is not necessary to either the comfort or convenience of any young man while at this Institution. This estimate, however, has reference to the Student whose home is in North Carolina, and who occupies a room in the College buildings.

The Faculty are authorized in all cases, where the applicant is a native of the State, sustains a fair and moral character, is believed to possess good talents and studious habits, and is unable to defray the expenses of tuition and room rent, to admit him, free of charge, into any class for which he may be prepared.

AN EXTRACT

From the Revised Statutes of North Carolina.

"Any contract or agreement by any student of the University, being "then a minor, with any shop-keeper, merchant, trader or other per- "son, upon the sale of any wine, cordial, spirituous or malt liquor, or "of any goods, wares or merchandise, or any article of trade, or with "the keeper of any livery stable, shall be void, unless the same, if "made at or within two miles of Chapel Hill, be made under the writ- "ten permission of the President of the University, or some member "of the Faculty; or if at a greater distance from Chapel Hill, under "the written consent of the person who may have the control and "authority over such student."

The attention of Parents and Guardians is also respectfully invited to the following proceedings of the Merchants of Chapel Hill which, as will be seen, is fully approved by the Faculty of the University.

At a meeting of the Merchants of Chapel Hill, on the 17th of April, 1856, Andrew Mickle was called to the chair, and George M. Long appointed secretary.

The Chairman having explained the object of the meeting to be the consideration of the means proper for regulating trade with the Students of the University, and a free interchange of opinion thereupon having taken place, William J. Hogan, Richard B. Saunders and Calvin Scott were appointed a committee to draw up resolutions in expression of the views of the Merchants of Chapel Hill upon this matter. Upon motion, Andrew Mickle was added to the committee.

After consultation, William J. Hogan, chairman of the committee, submitted the following report:

Whereas, the Merchants of Chapel Hill, after exerting themselves faithfully to pursue the regulations of the Statute upon the University, find that they have failed to give satisfaction to the Trustees of the said Institution, and to the parents and guardians of the students; therefore,

Resolved, That from and after the 15th day of June next, no student of the University (not of age) shall be allowed in any way to make an account with any merchant of the village, except such merchant shall have received from the parent, or guardian of the student applying for credit, permission in writing to give the same.

Resolved, That the merchants of Chapel Hill will enter into a mutual obligation, binding themselves to abide by the terms of the preceding resolution for eighteen months after the 15th of June next.

Resolved, That this action shall be binding only in case it meet with the concurrence of the President and Faculty of the University.

The resolutions were thereupon adopted by the following affirmative vote, it being a large majority of the merchants of Chapel Hill, viz: Richard B. Saunders; J. R. Hutchins & Co.; C. Scott & Co.; J. T. Hogan & Co.; Long & McCauley; Walter A. Thompson; F. A. Davies; H. L. Owen; John W. Carr. The same persons also signed the bond.

It was then resolved that these proceedings be published in the University Magazine; Hillsborough Recorder; Raleigh Register, and North Carolina Standard.

Thereupon the meeting adjourned.

GEORGE M. LONG, Secretary.

The foregoing proceedings, having been submitted by the Chairman to the Faculty of the University, the following resolution was unanimously adopted, and returned by the President.

Resolved, That the determination expressed in the foregoing account of the proceedings of the Merchants of Chapel Hill, not to sell goods to minors who are Students of the University without the consent of their parents or guardians, given in writting, as required by the Revised Statute in relation to the University, meets with the hearty concurrence and approval of the Faculty.

GEORGE M. LONG, Secretary.
